

How The Table Of Contents Works

Here is an example of the text file that is used to drive the Sustainability pages "Table of Contents". If you compare the list with the website page you can see how its works.

The gobbledegook is HTML stuff. Try to ignore it.

Looking at the first entry (starts with <tr and ends with </tr>:

"NAV" means it is a navigation page;

"Sustainability" means it related to the topic of "Sustainability";

"All" means it is of general interest;

href = "_Sustainability/Gateway1.asp" is what gets presented when you click on it;

"Navigation to Sustainability information" is a description of the contents;

"Open" means it is freely available;

"22 Oct 2015" is when the information was entered;

"Draft" means it could be subject to change.

<td>&nbsp;All</td>
<td>&nbsp;Honeycomb
Navigator</td>
<td>&nbsp;Navigation to Sustainability information.</td>
<td>&nbsp;Open</td>
<td>&nbsp;22 Oct 2015</td>
<td>&nbsp;Draft</td>
</tr>
```

<td &nbsp; bgcolor="#C1E5E8">WEB</td>
<td &nbsp; bgcolor="#B55118">Journal</td>
<td>&nbsp;All</td>
<td>&nbsp;The Conversation
Australian Edition</td>
<td>&nbsp;Quick leap to The Conversation e-journal.</td>
<td>&nbsp;Open</td>
<td>&nbsp;28 Sep 2015</td>
<td>&nbsp;Website</td>
</tr>

NOTE: The href object can be anything at all - a document like a pdf or spreadsheet, a website, and so on. Basically anything that can have a working URL (Universal Resource Locator) will do.

So if you have something you would like to have included, simply send a message to ibisnest1@bigpond.com supplying at least the href= information, and maybe a topic and description. You could also use the Feedback form and supply the URL.

If you have a document of your own, attach that to the email. The Feedback form does not currently allow for attachments.
